Dear Parent, carers

Thank you so much for taking the time to attend our open evening on Tuesday. The turnout was tremendous with 91% of you having the opportunity to have a good look at the changes we have made to the learning environment and to meet our team. For the few who have yet to have a look we will ensure you are given the opportunity at drop off or collection time.

Your feedback was very positive. You love the new layout and are impressed with the quality of resources, our innovative use of space and our exciting ideas which support children to use their imagination.

However, a negative comment was made regarding the grey walls in one of the pre-school rooms. We deliberately chose this colour as it is calming and is perfect as a backdrop for displaying the children's fabulous artwork and creations. Research shows that children can be easily distracted and lots of visual distraction can impact on their communication skills. We try to keep our displays minimalistic with plain or neutral coloured backgrounds as this allows the children to focus on the work that is displayed. Children who are distracted by their surrounding will be unable to keep their attention or use their listening skills effectively. Hence the reasoning behind our choice of colour.

Our commitment to you continues to be to deliver only the highest quality care and education at all times. Thank you for your continued support.
